

SOLO IN IROKO

Thanks to the sober nature of the structure and the warmth of the wood, this shower fits perfectly into a highly diverse range of garden and swimming pool environments. Iroko, an exotic African wood, has a nice amber colour in the sun. It is also called “aquatic wood”, and is highly resistant to water.

Angle irons for fastening to the surface enable it to be installed on a terrace made of wood, stone.. Personalised fittings are offered on request.

This shower is proposed with a grating 65 cm x 75 cm embedded into the vertical structure, but which is movable. Can also be provided without the grating.
